EASTER GREETINGS

Alleluia! Our Lord is risen and offers us new life! Jesus, the son of Mary, has truly died on the cross and overcame death as he rose on Easter. The Resurrection of the body, the central mystery of Easter, is an essential Christian doctrine. As the apostle Paul declares so clearly: “[I]f the dead are not raised, then Christ has not been raised. If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins. Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished” (1 Cor. 15:13–18). Because, as Paul tells us, the Christian is meaningless without this essential belief, it has been infallibly defined by the Church. It is included in the three professions of faith: the Apostles’ Creed, the Athanasian Creed and the Nicene Creed. We recite the Nicene Creed at Mass every Sunday and profess that Jesus “was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day.” It is this miracle – life overcoming death – that we celebrate with such great joy today and throughout the Easter season!

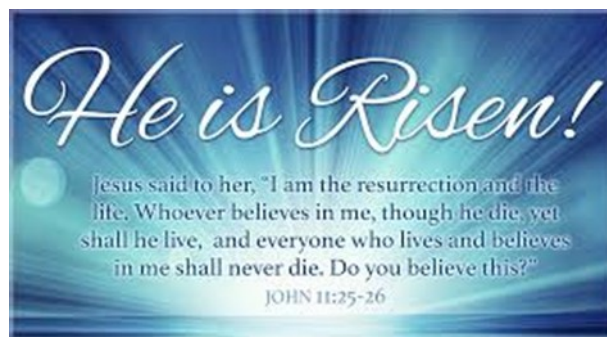

But, our Lord’s Resurrection isn’t just important for Jesus, the son Mary. It is the foundation of our eternal hope, as well. We continue in the Nicene Creed to profess that the risen Lord “will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.” We, who work throughout our lives here on earth to bring about God’s kingdom in our midst here and now, long to be part of God’s kingdom that “will have no end.” And so, we continue in the Nicene Creed to proclaim that we “look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.” This remarkable teaching has been solemnly, infallibly affirmed by ecumenical councils down through the ages.

Today, we read in the Catechism of the Catholic Church this poetic presentation of our belief in the resurrection of the dead:

“We believe in the true resurrection of this flesh that we now possess’ (Council of Lyons II). We sow a corruptible body in the tomb, but he raises up an incorruptible body, a ‘spiritual body’ (cf. 1 Cor 15:42–44)” (CCC 1017).

Using the image of a plant that is sown, the Catechism affirms that we will receive an incorruptible body after death. This means that each of us, individually, will be given eternal life. This is our ultimate goal and one that fills all of us – faithful to God and the way his son, Jesus, has shown us – with inextinguishable joy!

As we marvel at the rebirth of nature all around us, let us contemplate the new life that the risen Lord promises us during these days of Easter! Our Lord has been raised from the dead and, aware that we are raised to new life with him, “Alleluia” is our cry!

PARISH ACTIVITIES

St. Martin de Porres

Please join us in welcoming our sister parish, St. Martin de Porres, as they join us for Mass next Saturday at 5:00 pm. Their choir will be leading us in song during Mass. Dinner will be served in the Parish Center after Mass. Next Sunday, the St. Martin de Porres committee will host a parish coffee after the 9:30 am Mass, which will provide another opportunity to meet parishioners from SMDP. We hope to see you there!

Assistive Hearing Units

We have a hearing assistance system in church and six hearing assistance units; they are available in the sacristy. If you would like to use one, please come to the sacristy before Mass. The sacristan will show you how to use it. Feel free to bring your own earbuds to ensure a better fit, or, you can use earpieces we have with the hearing assistance units.

Thank you Monsignor Brouwers for sharing your story of meeting Salvador Dali and the importance of evangelization with the teens from SKS and St. Monica's. You never know when or where you can make a difference in someone else's life.

SKS SCHOOL NEWS

How has the landscape of education changed over the years?

One question I am asked often by prospective parents is how education has changed over the last few decades. The obvious answer is the use of technology. Technology certainly has influenced and helped shape educational reform to some degree. Technology is a valuable resource to help students access and present information. It's important and most assuredly has its place in 21st century teaching. It has influenced what we teach and how we teach it.

More importantly, though, is how teachers deliver information to students in the 21st century. In the 1970's and 1980's classrooms were teacher - centered. The teacher delivered information through direct instruction and students were fed information. That is no longer the case today. Excellent teaching today has classrooms that are student - centered. Classrooms now are expected to be interactive and engaging students through collaboration and allowing for creativity. There is more of an exchange of ideas and teachers are facilitators rather than just inundating students with a fountain of information as students sit back and just repeat facts presented to them. Students today need to be able to think critically.

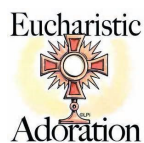

Back in the "old days" (circa 1960 - 1990), if you could memorize well, that was good enough for you to be successful as a student from grade school all the way through college and into the real world. However, that is no longer the case. The real world today is asking for higher level thinking. The world wants technologically savvy individuals but beyond that they want young adults who can create, analyze and evaluate information. Businesses today want critical thinkers, problems solvers, collaborators, and creators (entrepreneurs). This requires thinking that goes way beyond students who can just memorize facts. So, while it's still important to know your times tables, states and capitals, now students must go beyond that to be successful.

Lastly, there is a huge emphasis on soft skills for the real world. Ethical decision making and values that encompass personal traits such as compassion, empathy, grit and resilience rank high among skills that employers want and are so important and valuable to the work place.

Using Christ as our role model as master teacher in all we do, at SKS we recognize that today's students need to be well-rounded and well-grounded in every way to put them on the road to being a successful person.

Take care,

Bud Tosti, Principal

Eucharistic Adoration takes place at St. Katharine's every Monday from the end of the 8:00 am Mass until Benediction which starts at 4:30 pm and lasts until around 4:45 pm.

Spend some quiet time with the Lord. Read the divine words of Our Lord Jesus, meditate, pray or just sit quietly and listen to His words to you. You will leave the church happy and refreshed. Come and visit for as few or as many minutes as you have. You won't be sorry. This is the best gift that you could ever give yourself.
