WELCOME BACK, DEACON DAVID!

As quickly and unexpectedly as he left, we're delighted to announce that Deacon David has returned. You will recall that, due to the challenging situation between China and the Vatican, his ordination to the priesthood here in Philadelphia remained uncertain. Then, at the invitation of the Diocese of Orange, California, he left us on 2 February with the idea that he would be ordained there and serve the Chinese community in that diocese. In the intervening two months, however, an arrangement has been made between Philadelphia and Orange to have him return here as the process for his priestly ordination continued. So, he flew back last evening and will be staying with us with the hope that he will, indeed, be ordained a priest here in the near future. We welcome him back with open arms and pray that his ordination date will be announced soon!

DIVINE MERCY SUNDAY

HAPPY EASTER! As we bring the Octave of Easter to its conclusion, know that I have kept you in my prayers all week, that you may experience ever more fully the joy of the Resurrection. Today is also Divine Mercy Sunday. Heeding the call that our risen Lord gave to St. Marie Faustina Kowalska in the 1930's, the Church decreed on 23 May 2000 that "throughout the world, the Second Sunday of Easter will receive the name Divine Mercy Sunday, a perennial invitation to the Christian world to face, with confidence in divine benevolence, the difficulties and trials that humankind will experience in the years to come." We can all benefit from divine benevolence today as we continue to struggle with a wide variety of difficulties and trials in the midst of the ongoing wars in Ukraine, throughout the Middle East and in so many other regions throughout the world as well as continued division in our own country.

I'm sure you're familiar with the image of Divine Mercy; it originated from a vision St. Faustina had on Feb. 22, 1931 and you will find it on display in our sanctuary this week. The image of Divine Mercy represents the risen Christ whose hands and feet bear the marks of his crucifixion. When asked about the meaning of the rays from his pierced heart, Jesus explained, as St. Faustina recorded in her diary:

"The pale ray stands for the water which makes souls righteous. The red ray stands for the blood which is the life of souls. ... These two rays issued forth from the very depths of my tender mercy when my agonized heart was opened by a lance on the cross." (Diary, 299)

These two rays signify the sacraments of mercy (Baptism and Penance), and the Eucharist. Water – presented in this painting by the pale ray – speaks of the sacraments of Baptism and Penance since it is through these sacraments that our souls are washed clean. The Eucharist is the life-sustaining food for our spiritual journey.

Jesus promised an abundance of blessings to those who venerate this image. As you spend time in veneration, allow me to offer some reflections on this relatively new observance of God's eternal mercy, why it was introduced and how it can help us in these days of distress and worry. Our need for the message of Divine Mercy took on particular urgency in the beginning of the 20th century. As Saint John Paul II explained so well in his encyclical, Evangelium Vitae, it was a time of "[t]he eclipse of the sense of God and of man" which "inevitably leads to a practical materialism and breeds individualism, utilitarianism and hedonism." It was a time when so many people began to lose the understanding of the sanctity and inherent dignity of human life. So, in the 1930s, Jesus chose a Polish nun, St. Maria Faustina Kowalska, to receive private revelations concerning Divine Mercy that were recorded in her diary. St. John Paul II explained in Memory and Identity, the last book that he wrote:

This was precisely the time when those ideologies were taking shape. Sister Faustina became the herald of the one message capable of offsetting the evil of those ideologies, that fact that God is mercy - the truth of the merciful Christ. And for this reason, when I was called to the See of Peter, I felt impelled to pass on those experiences of a fellow Pole that deserve a place in the treasury of the universal Church.

As we continue our struggles, both personally and worldwide, we may be asking ourselves why this is happening to us? Is God punishing us - as some would say? As we have just completed the Lenten Season and have begun the joyous Easter Season, some of the passages we find in St. Faustina's Diary may help us to understand God's hand in this moment.

First of all, it's essential to recognize that everything that happens in the created universe is part of God's plan. Nothing is an accident, nothing is an afterthought. This doesn't mean that everything is predetermined but rather that God, who is all knowing, is always in charge. Yet, in his infinite love for us, God also gives us free choice and our choices have consequences. Second, it's important to realize that God's plan is eternal. We usually think in terms of minutes, hours, days, weeks or years. God's plan, on the other hand, is beyond time; it is from eternity to eternity. Third, it's imperative that we admit that God and God's plan are, in this age, beyond our complete understanding. But, as we reflect on some of the messages Jesus gave to Sr. Faustina, we get helpful insights into God's mercy, demonstrated so clearly in the suffering and death of his son, Jesus, and how our suffering can lead us to better understand and appreciate God's mercy. In her Diary, St. Faustina wrote:

Suffering is a great grace; through suffering the soul becomes like the Savior; in suffering love becomes crystallized; the greater the suffering, the purer the love." (#57)

God's pure love for us is demonstrated so clearly in his son's crucifixion. As Jesus declared, "No greater love has one than to lay down his life for his friends" (Jn 15:13). We are called to unite our sufferings to Jesus; it is through our suffering that our love is purified.

During this time of worldwide struggles, we can either fret and worry or we can turn to our Lord in love because, as St. Paul assures us so clearly, "all things work for the good for those who love God" (Rm 8:28).

And second, we need to trust in God's mercy, for God's love is most clearly shown in his mercy and God's mercy is perfectly demonstrated in the life and death of his son. Jesus instructed Sr. Faustina:

"I am love and mercy itself. There is no misery that could be a match for my mercy, neither will misery exhaust it, because as it is being granted - it increases. The soul that trusts in my mercy is most fortunate, because I myself take care of it." (#1273)

On this Divine Mercy Sunday, we turn to our Lord who revealed himself to Sr. Faustina in a special way to reveal his mercy anew. Our Lord requested that the image be venerated on the Feast of Divine Mercy (The First Sunday after Easter, which we now call Divine Mercy Sunday). Jesus told St. Faustina, "I want this image, which you will paint with a brush, to be solemnly blessed on the first Sunday after Easter; that Sunday is to be the Feast of Mercy" (Diary, 49). Through the generosity of one of our parishioners, we have a copy of that image; it will be displayed in our sanctuary all week for your veneration.

It was in space and time - at a particular moment in history in Jerusalem - that our Lord was raised from the dead, but the effects of his Resurrection must change the hearts and minds of people in every age as we prepare to be with God for all eternity. On this Divine Mercy Sunday, let us thank God for his love and mercy, which he demonstrated so clearly through the suffering and death of his Son and pray for God's mercy among us and all peoples around the world, especially now. May God have mercy on us all!
